bank could lay their hands on the insured deposit amount only after the bank's liquidation, which would take even 8-10 years. So, the amendments were brought in to ensure that customers, especially the small ones, have time-bound access to the insured amount to meet financial exigency. Last year, the government had raised the limit of bank deposits insured under the DICGC Act to ₹5 lakh from ₹1 lakh.

As for the GIBNA (amendment) Bill, several opposition members have opposed the Bill on the ground that it would entail total privatisation of state-run general insurance firms. Asserting that the fears are not well-founded, Sitharaman told the Lok Sabha on Friday: "We are bringing some enabling provisions so that the government can bring in public, Indian citizens, and common people's participation into the general insurance companies." Public private participation in the general insurance industry will also help get more resources, she added.

The statement of objects and reasons of the Bill suggests that the government seeks to remove the requirement of the Centre holding not less than 51% of equity in a specified insurer. The minister said private general insurers can easily raise money from the market, which enables them to offer a better premium for insuring the public and develop innovative product base. "Whereas public general insurance companies are not able to perform because they are always short of resources," Sitharaman said.

Announcing the Budget for FY22, Sitharaman had proposed to take up the privatisation of two state-run banks and one general insurer. "This would require legislative amendments..." she had said.

At present, the country has four public sector general insurers - National Insurance Company, New India Assurance Company, Oriental Insurance Company and the United India Insurance Company. The government is yet to announce the name of the firm for sell-off. However, NITI Aayog, which has been entrusted with the task of recommending a suitable candidate for privatisation, has reportedly suggested the name of United India to the core group of secretaries on disinvestment headed by the Cabinet secretary.

The sell-off plan is part of the government's broader divestment goals for the financial sector, which also include privatisation of two banks and listing of insurance behemoth LIC. The government has set its overall divestment target for FY22 at ₹1.75 lakh crore, about three-and-a-half of times the actual realisation last fiscal. (With PTI inputs)

Covid-19: 'Delta variant may cause more severe infection, spread as easily as chickenpox'

The Delta variant is more transmissible than the viruses that cause MERS, SARS, Ebola, the common cold, the seasonal flu and smallpox, and it is as contagious as chickenpox, according to the document, a copy of which was also obtained by The New York Times. The Delta variant -- originally known as B.1.617.2 -- might cause more severe disease, according to the document. The immediate next step for the agency is to "acknowledge the war has changed," the document said.

The document's tone reflects alarm among CDC scientists about Delta's spread across the country, the NYT quoted a federal official, who has seen the research described in the document, as saying. The agency is expected to publish additional data on the deadly variant on Friday. "The CDC is very concerned with the data coming in that Delta is a very serious threat that requires action now," the official said.

There are roughly 35,000 symptomatic infections per week among 162 million vaccinated Americans, according to data collected by the CDC as of July 24 that was cited in the internal presentation. But the agency does not track all mild or asymptomatic infections, so the actual incidence may be higher. Infection with the Delta variant produces virus amounts in the airways that are tenfold higher than what is seen in people infected with the Alpha variant, which is also highly contagious, the document noted.

The amount of virus in a person infected with Delta is a thousandfold more than what is seen in people infected with the original version of the virus, according to one recent study. The CDC document relies on data from multiple studies, including an analysis of a recent outbreak in Provincetown, Massachusetts, which began after the town's Fourth of July festivities.
